Your Guide to FSA Farm Loans

This booklet is modeled on a guide that was originally developed by the New Entry Sustainable Farming Project, Northeast Network of Immigrant Farming Projects, in September 2007. That guide was authored by Vanessa Bitterman and reviewed by Jennifer Hashley, New Entry Sustainable Farming Project Director, and David DeFrest, FSA Loan Officer, Westford, MA.

Purpose of This Guide

Who should read this guide?

This guide is for people who need help starting, expanding, or owning a farm or ranch. If you are thinking about borrowing money to start or expand your farm business, it is a good idea to consider the following items.

Before you borrow money, you need to learn about your loan options and the process for applying for a loan. This guide will help you identify questions and address concerns you may have before you start the loan process.

It may be helpful to use this guide with someone who can direct you to more sources of farming or ranching information, such as an experienced farmer or rancher, community-based organization, or other service provider. You may want to involve your family when reviewing this guide to make sure everyone understands the process and risks involved in owning a farm business and borrowing money.

Introduction to the USDA Farm Service Agency's Farm Loan Programs

As a farmer or rancher, whether you are just starting out, or have many years of experience, there are times when you need to borrow money to start, expand, sustain, or make changes to your business. If you are thinking about applying for a loan, consider the following:

- Do you want to buy or lease a farm or ranch?
- Do you need to buy things like a tractor, livestock, irrigation pipes, or a greenhouse for your farm or ranch?
- Do you already own or rent farmland/ranchland and want to expand your business?
- Has a natural disaster, such as drought, flooding, or a bad storm, ruined your crops or damaged your farm buildings or equipment?

If you answered “yes” to any of these questions, you may want to apply for a loan from the Farm Service Agency (FSA), an agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

You may be able to get a loan or loan guarantee through FSA’s Farm Loan Programs if you are a farmer or rancher who is unable to get credit elsewhere to start, purchase, sustain, or expand your family farm. Unlike loans from a commercial lender, FSA loans are temporary, and our goal is to help you graduate to commercial credit. Once you are able to get credit from a commercial lender, our mission of providing temporary, supervised credit is complete.

In Appendix A, you will find a list of USDA agencies and other organizations that you can contact for more information on agriculture, developing business plans, and getting help to apply for a loan. In Appendix B, you will find definitions for some of the terms used in this guide.

This guide will help you get started in the process of applying for an FSA loan or getting a loan guarantee for your farm or ranch. FSA loan officials can help you gather information you need to complete your application.

For some parts of your application, such as developing your business plan, you may need to ask for advice from a business advisor or other professional. Everyone’s situation is different, so applying for a loan may be different for you than for another farmer or rancher going through the same process.

Guaranteed Loan Program

Guaranteed loans are made and serviced by commercial lenders, such as banks, the Farm Credit System, credit unions and other non-traditional lenders. FSA guarantees the lender's loan against loss, up to 95 percent. FSA has the responsibility of approving all eligible loan guarantees and providing oversight of the lender's activities.

Direct Loan Program

Direct loans are made and serviced by FSA using funds from the Federal Government. FSA has the responsibility of providing credit counseling and supervision to its direct borrowers by helping applicants evaluate the adequacy of their real estate and facilities, machinery and equipment, financial and production management, and goals.

Land Contract Guarantee Program

Land contract guarantees provide certain financial guarantees to the seller of a farm or ranch through a land contract sale to a beginning or socially disadvantaged farmer or rancher.

Highly Fractionated Indian Land Loan Program

The Highly Fractionated Indian Land Loan Program provides funding for establishing a revolving fund to eligible intermediary lenders with a record of successful lending in Indian Country and knowledge and experience working with the Bureau of Indian Affairs. The intermediary lenders, in turn, make loans to tribes, tribal members, and tribal entities to purchase highly fractionated Indian land.

What Types of Loans Are Available?

Overview

FSA has different types of loans for which you can apply, depending on your needs and your current situation. This guide will help you to answer the following questions:

- What type of loan do I need?
- Do I meet the requirements for a loan?
- What is the loan application process?
- What forms or documents do I need to apply?

Farm ownership, operating, and conservation loans are available under the Guaranteed Loan Program. Farm ownership, operating, and emergency loans are available under the Direct Loan Program. Farm ownership and operating loans are offered through Direct Microloans and EZ Guarantee loan programs. FSA offers two types of guarantees under the Land Contract Guarantee Program. In addition, FSA provides funding to intermediary lenders for the Highly Fractionated Indian Land Loan Program.

Description of Loan Types

Before you apply, you need to decide what type of loan you need. You may need to apply for more than one type of loan at the same time if you need money for different purposes. FSA loan types include the following:

Farm Ownership loans help you purchase or enlarge a farm or ranch, construct a new or improve an existing farm or ranch building, pay closing costs, and pay for soil and water conservation and protection.

Operating loans help you purchase livestock and equipment and pay for minor real estate repairs and annual operating expenses.

Microloans are direct farm ownership and operating loans with a shortened application process and reduced paperwork designed to meet the needs of smaller, non-traditional, and niche-type operations.

Emergency loans help you if you suffered a qualifying loss caused by natural disasters that damaged your farm or ranch. Emergency loan funds may be used to restore or replace essential property, pay all or part of production costs associated with the disaster year, pay essential family living expenses, reorganize the farming operation, and refinance certain debts.

EZ Guarantee loans are guaranteed farm ownership and operating loans with a shortened application process and reduced paperwork designed to meet the needs of smaller, non-traditional, and niche-type operations.

Conservation loans help you complete a conservation practice in an approved conservation plan.

Land contract guarantees provide certain financial guarantees to the seller of a farm or ranch through a land contract sale to a beginning or socially disadvantaged farmer or rancher. The seller may request either of the following:

- Prompt Payment Guarantee: A guarantee up to the amount of three amortized annual installments plus the cost of any related real estate taxes and insurance. The seller must choose a third-party escrow agent who will handle transactions related to the contract.
- Standard Guarantee: A guarantee of 90 percent of the outstanding principal balance under the land contract. The seller must choose a third-party servicing agent.

Highly Fractionated Indian Land Loans provide a way for tribes, tribal members, and tribal entities to purchase fractionated interests through intermediary lenders.

The following chart provides additional details for the different types of loans and the maximum loan amounts. You may request any amount up to the maximum. The rates and terms of the loan address the interest rate that will be charged and the maximum number of years you will make payments on the loan.

To determine the maximum loan limit for the current year, please check with your local FSA loan official at <https://www.fsa.usda.gov/state-offices/index> or our website at <https://www.fsa.usda.gov/programs-and-services/farm-loan-programs/index>.

Direct loan interest rates are adjusted monthly and are posted online at <https://www.fsa.usda.gov/programs-and-services/farm-loan-programs/index> and at your local FSA office. Once your loan is closed, the interest rate is fixed at the rate in effect on the date of loan approval or loan closing, whichever is lower.

*The combined maximum loan amount for EZ Guarantee OL and FO loans may not exceed $100,000.

Note: FSA offers other types of loans, such as marketing assistance loans and farm storage facility loans, which may have different application or eligibility requirements than listed in this guide. For more information on these programs, please visit <https://www.fsa.usda.gov/programs-and-services/price-support/Index>.

Loan Rates and Terms

When you receive a loan from FSA or another lender, you have to pay back the loan amount (principal), plus an additional amount of interest. “Rate” is the interest rate charged on your loan from FSA or your commercial lender. The period of time you are making payments on the loan is called the loan “term.” The amount of interest that you will pay is based on the interest rate and loan term.

The interest rate is shown as a percentage rate (%). A lower interest rate means that the cost of borrowing the money is lower, so you pay a smaller amount in interest. A higher interest rate means that the cost is higher, and you will pay more to borrow the money. Some interest rates are fixed, which means that the percentage rate (%) stays the same for the entire time you are paying back your loan. Other rates are variable, which means that the percentage rate (%) can change periodically while you are paying back your loan. With a variable interest rate, the rate can either increase or decrease. FSA direct loans and land contract guarantees have fixed interest rates. Guaranteed loans may have either fixed or variable interest rates.

The loan term is usually based on the use of the loan funds and the collateral that secures the loan. Generally, a loan made for real estate purposes will have a longer term than a loan made to purchase equipment or livestock. In addition, a loan that is secured by real estate may have a longer term than a loan secured by equipment or livestock. A longer loan term will reduce your yearly payment amount, but will increase your total interest cost.

Amortization is the established schedule for paying off a debt over time through regular payments. It is based on the interest rate and term of a loan, and it shows the amount of each payment put towards interest, as well as the amount put towards the principal balance. Initially, a large portion of each payment is applied to interest. Over time, a larger portion goes towards paying down the principal.

The following example shows an amortization schedule for a $30,000 operating loan with a 5-percent interest rate and a 7-year term. For each of the 7 years, you can see how much of your yearly payment goes toward paying interest and principal on the loan.

Amortization Schedule

Year	Annual Payment	Principal	Interest	Loan Balance
			5.00%	$30,000.00
1	$5,185.00	$3,685.00	$1,500.00	$26,315.00
2	$5,185.00	$3,871.00	$1,314.00	$22,444.00
3	$5,185.00	$4,063.00	$1,122.00	$18,381.00

Targeted Funds for Beginning and Socially Disadvantaged Farmers and Ranchers

FSA is referred to as the “Lender of First Opportunity” because each year it targets some of the loan funds for beginning and socially disadvantaged farmers or ranchers. FSA sets aside money specifically to help farmers or ranchers who are just starting up, or who are members of a group which has been subjected to racial, ethnic, or gender prejudice because of their identity, without regard to their individual qualities. In addition, land contract guarantees are only available on land contracts to a beginning or socially disadvantaged farmer or rancher.

You may qualify for direct or guaranteed loan funds as a beginning farmer or rancher if you started farming or ranching less than 10 years ago. You are a socially disadvantaged farmer or rancher if you are:

- American Indian or Alaskan Native
- Asian
- Black or African American
- Native Hawaiian or other Pacific Islander
- Hispanic
- a Woman

Eligibility Requirements

Depending on the type of loan you want, you will have to meet certain eligibility requirements. Different types of loans have different eligibility requirements. Examples of general eligibility requirements are below. If you answer “no” to any of the requirements, we recommend that you discuss the requirement further with an FSA loan official.

Eligibility Requirements for Direct Loans (Farm Ownership and Operating, Including Microloans, or Emergency)	YES	NO
I am a citizen of the United States, a non-citizen national, or a qualified alien.
I possess the legal capacity to obtain a loan.
I am unable to obtain credit elsewhere at reasonable rates and terms.
I can show that I have a good credit history (I pay my bills on time) or, if I do not, I can show that my failure to pay my bills was due to circumstances beyond my control, was infrequent, or did not happen recently.
My operation is a family farm or ranch, and the majority of the physical labor and management are provided by me, a family member, or another entity member.
I have not received debt forgiveness (caused FSA to lose money) on another direct or guaranteed loan. (Exceptions apply) (Contact an FSA loan official for additional guidance or clarification.)
I will not be behind on any debt (other than a debt under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986) that I owe to the U.S. Government when the loan is closed.

Eligibility Requirements for Direct Loans (Farm Ownership and Operating, Including Microloans, or Emergency) Continued	YES	NO
I have the training, education, or experience that enables me to effectively manage my farm or ranch.
For farm ownership loans only: I have participated in the business operations of a farm or ranch for at least 3 out of the last 10 years. Note: Discuss your particular situation with an FSA loan official as there are several ways that you may meet this requirement.
For beginning farmer or rancher targeted funds only: I have operated a farm or ranch for 10 years or less.
For beginning farmer or rancher targeted funds only: If I currently own a farm or ranch, it is less than 30% of the average farm size in my county.
For down payment loans only: I can make a cash down payment of at least 5% of the purchase price for the farm or ranch I want to buy.
For emergency loans only: My operation is in a county that has a disaster designation, and it has not been more than 8 months since the designation was declared. I suffered a production loss (at least 30%) or a physical loss due to the designated disaster.

Note: There are limitations on how many years you may receive a direct OL or FO loan. Your FSA loan official will explain the time limits in detail.

Eligibility Requirements for Guaranteed Loans (Farm Ownership and Operating, Including EZ Guarantee, Conservation)	YES	NO
I am a citizen of the United States, a non-citizen national, or a qualified alien.
I possess the legal capacity to obtain a loan.
The lender will not approve my loan without an FSA guarantee.*
I have not received debt forgiveness (caused FSA to lose money) on another direct or guaranteed loan. Note: Debt forgiveness does not include debt reduction through a conservation contract, a write-down provided as part of a discrimination complaint or to claimants in certain legal settlements, or prior debt forgiveness that has been repaid in its entirety. (Contact an FSA loan official for additional guidance or clarification.)

These eligibility requirements apply to the buyer under the land contract. Additional eligibility requirements apply to the seller.

Why Do You Need a Business Plan?

The Purpose of Your Business Plan

Your business plan is very important. It is like a roadmap that shows how you will move from where you are now to where you want your operation to be in the future. A good business plan that describes your financial and operational goals will help you to evaluate your progress as you establish or continue your farm or ranch in the future. It shows that you have seriously thought about your goals and plans for the future and that you understand all parts of your operation.

In order to get an FSA loan, a guarantee on a loan made by a commercial lender, or a land contract guarantee, you need to create a detailed business plan that describes:

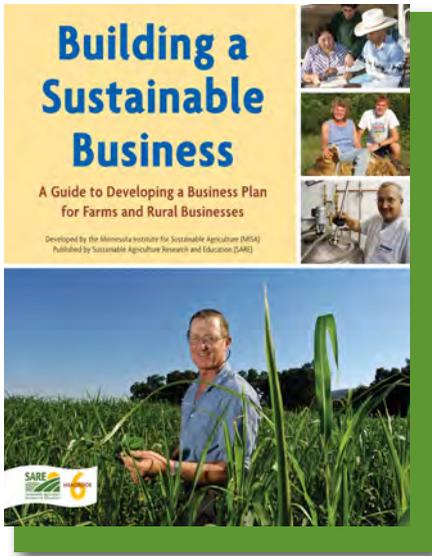

- Your mission, vision, and goals for your farm or ranch.
- Your current assets (property or investments you own) and liabilities (debts, loans, or payments you owe).
- What your operation will produce, and how and where you will market and sell your products. This is sometimes referred to as a marketing plan.
- Whether the amount of income your operation will generate will be enough to pay your business and family living expenses.

A comprehensive business plan is an important first step for any size business—no matter how simple or complex. You should create a strong business plan because it:

- Will help you get organized and make sure you are taking all of the necessary steps and remembering all of the details.
- Will act as your guide. It will help you to think carefully about why you want to farm or ranch and what you want to achieve in the future. Over time, you can look back at your business plan and determine whether you are achieving your goals.
- Is required to get a loan. Lenders look closely at business plans to determine if you can afford to repay the loan.

Getting Help To Develop Your Business Plan

Creating a good business plan takes time and effort. You may want to find a business advisor who can help you with the process. There are many sources for professional advice, and it may be helpful to attend workshops that focus on business planning.

Your FSA loan official may be able to assist you or refer you to an advisor in your area who has experience in advising farmers and ranchers. The following are some organizations that can help in developing business plans:

- Small Business Counselors (SCORE) is a nonprofit organization with a network of volunteers who have experience in running and managing businesses. Its representatives can give you advice on how to create a good business plan. To learn more, visit <https://www.score.org>.

- The USDA’s National Institute of Food and Agriculture administers the Extension Risk Management Education (ERME) program through four regional ERME Centers and a fifth “Digital Center.” The program’s objective is to educate farmers and ranchers on the full range of strategies to manage the risks inherent in agriculture, particularly production, price, finances, legal issues, and human resource management. Such strategies may include futures, options, agricultural trade options, crop insurance, cash forward contracting, debt reduction, product and enterprise diversification, farm labor management, and farm resources risk reduction, among others. To learn more, visit <http://extensionrme.org>.
 - Your local Cooperative Extension office may also be able to help you get information for your operation. To find your local Cooperative Extension office, visit <https://nifa.usda.gov>

Note: Contact information for FSA, SCORE, ERME Centers, and Cooperative Extension is included in Appendix A of this guide.

Business Plan Formats

There are many different styles of business plans. Some are written documents; others may be a set of worksheets that you complete. No matter what format you choose, several key aspects of your operation are important to consider.

Use the guidelines below to start thinking about your business plan. Remember, you will answer these kinds of questions in more detail when you create your official business plan and meet with an FSA loan official or another lender to apply for a loan.

Business Plan Guidelines

1. Are you starting a new farm or ranch, or are you already in business?

- What products do you produce?
- What is the size of your operation?
- Is the ownership structure of your business a sole proprietorship, partnership, corporation, trust, limited liability company, or other type of entity?
- If your business is an entity, are any of its members an entity?
- What agricultural production and financial management training or experience do you, your family members, or your business partners have?
- How long have you been in business?

2. What short- and long-term goals do you have for your operation?

- How do you plan to start, expand, or change your operation?
- What plans do you have to make your operation more efficient or more profitable?
- What type of farm or ranch model (conventional, sustainable, organic, or alternative agricultural practices) do you plan to use?

3. What resources do you have or will you need for your business?

- Is the equipment and real estate that you own or rent adequate to conduct your operation? If not, how do you plan to address those needs?
- What additional resources do you need?

4. Do you have a support system in place?

- What help will you have operating and managing your farm or ranch?
- What other resources, such as a mentor or community-based organization, do you plan to use?

5. Will the income you generate be sufficient to pay your operating expenses, living expenses, and loan payments?

- What crops, livestock, or other products do you plan to sell?
- How will you market your products?
- Are the yields and prices you used to estimate your income realistic?
- What other sources of income are available to supplement your business income?
- What business expenses will you incur?
- What family living expenses do you pay?
- How will you measure the success of your business?

How Do You Apply for a Guaranteed Loan?

Preparing an Application for a Loan Guarantee

Guaranteed loans are made and serviced by commercial lenders, such as banks, the Farm Credit System, credit unions, and other non-traditional lenders. FSA guarantees the lender's loan against loss, up to 95 percent. Contact your lender if you are interested in an FSA guaranteed loan. Your lender will assist you in preparing the forms needed. You and your lender may obtain the forms to apply for a loan guarantee from the local FSA office or from the FSA website at <https://forms.sc.egov.usda.gov/eForms/welcomeAction.do?Home>.

Submitting an Application for a Loan Guarantee

Your lender will submit the application to FSA.

What Happens After Your Lender Submits an Application for a Loan Guarantee?

How FSA Processes an Application for a Loan Guarantee

After receiving the application from your lender, FSA will:

- Review the application to determine whether all required forms and documents have been submitted and notify the lender in writing of any missing items within 5 days. You will receive a copy of this notification.
- Notify the lender in writing within 5 days of receiving all forms and documents that the application is complete.
- Review the application for eligibility, repayment ability, security, and compliance with other program requirements.

If the Application for a Loan Guarantee Is Approved

If the application for a guarantee is approved, FSA will notify the lender in writing.

Normally, your lender will schedule the loan closing as soon as possible after receiving approval. However, FSA receives funding for guarantees on a fiscal-year basis, and the demand for some guaranteed loan types may exceed the level of funding received. When this occurs, FSA will notify the lender that the guarantee is approved subject to the availability of funds and the loan cannot be closed until additional funding is received.

Note: For most loans, FSA charges the lender a guarantee fee of 1.5 percent of the guaranteed portion of the loan. The lender may pass this fee on to you. The fee is waived under some circumstances.

If the Application for a Loan Guarantee Is Not Approved

If the application for guarantee is not approved, FSA will notify the lender in writing of:

- The reason it cannot be approved;
- The opportunity to request:
 - reconsideration, which provides the opportunity to meet with an FSA loan official to present additional information and explain why FSA's decision may be in error;
 - mediation, which is a process for solution of a disagreement. A trained neutral mediator assists two or more parties who disagree by looking at the issues, considering all available options, and attempting to have both parties agree on an acceptable solution;
 - an appeal to the National Appeals Division, an independent organization within USDA, where evidence may be presented demonstrating why FSA's decision may be wrong;
- Your rights if you believe you have been discriminated against under the Federal Equal Credit Opportunity Act or USDA regulations.

Note: You will receive a copy of this notification.

How Will Your Guaranteed Loan Be Serviced?

Lender Responsibilities

Lenders must supervise guaranteed loan borrowers in a manner similar to the supervision of their other agricultural loan customers. Lenders are expected to apply standard agricultural loan servicing principles to their guaranteed customers.

Your Responsibilities

As a guaranteed loan borrower, you are responsible for complying with all loan agreements you have with your lender.

FSA Responsibilities

FSA will monitor the lender's supervision of guaranteed loan borrowers and will notify the lender in writing of any deficiencies.

How Do You Apply for a Direct Loan?

Preparing Your Direct Loan Application

You can get direct loan application forms at your local FSA office or from the FSA website at <https://forms.sc.egov.usda.gov/eForms/welcomeAction.do?Home>. The local FSA loan official can help you complete the FSA forms or identify other sources of assistance in your area. When you ask for assistance, request an application, or submit an application, FSA will provide you a Receipt for Service.

Although it may take time to gather the information to accurately complete your application, it will allow FSA to process your application more quickly.

A direct loan application for farm ownership and operating loans includes the following forms and documents:

Submitting Your Direct Loan Application

You may submit your application:

- by calling for an appointment with an FSA loan official;
- by mailing, faxing, or delivering your application to your local FSA office; or
- electronically, if you have registered through the e-Gov system.

Note: When you submit a loan application, the FSA loan official will give you a Receipt of Service. For more information on submitting your loan application electronically, please visit the website <https://forms.sc.egov.usda.gov/eForms/welcomeAction.do?Home>.

What Happens After You Submit Your Direct Loan Application to FSA?

How FSA Processes Your Direct Loan Application

FSA will:

- review your application to determine if all required forms and documents have been submitted.
- notify you in writing, within 10 days after receiving your application, if any items are missing.
- notify you in writing, within 10 days of receiving all forms and documents, that your application is complete.
- make a final decision on your application within 60 days of receiving all required forms and documents.

Helpful Hints:

- When the FSA loan official schedules a meeting to discuss your loan request, be sure to ask your loan official questions if there is anything you do not understand. FSA may provide technical assistance or refer you to a subject-matter expert.
- If you are not satisfied with the level of service that you are receiving from the local FSA office, you may contact the applicable FSA State Office or FSA National Headquarters. The contact numbers for these offices may be found at <https://www.fsa.usda.gov>.

If Your Direct Loan Is Approved

If your direct loan is approved, FSA will notify you in writing of:

- the approved use of loan funds
- the interest rate
- the term of the loan
- the collateral that you will have to pledge to secure the loan
- when the money is expected to be available
- any pre-loan closing requirements
- your responsibilities as an FSA direct loan borrower.

You will need to sign and return the letter accepting the loan conditions.

Helpful Hint: Make sure you understand all the loan conditions and your responsibilities as a borrower. Contact your FSA loan official if you have any questions.*

FSA will schedule your loan closing as soon as possible after your loan is approved. Normally, loan funds are available within 15 days of approval. However, FSA receives funding for loans on a fiscal year basis, and the demand for some loan types may exceed the level of funding received. When this occurs, your loan will be approved subject to the availability of funding, but it cannot be closed until additional funding is received.

Note: The fiscal year begins on October 1 of each year and ends on September 30.

Operating loans will be closed by your FSA loan official.

Farm ownership loans will be closed by an attorney or title agency of your choice. However, if a lien will be taken on tribal lands held in trust or restricted status, a Title Status Report and approval of the lien from the Bureau of Indian Affairs is required.

At closing, you will sign several documents, including a promissory note and lien instruments to secure the loan. Keep all of your loan documents, loan closing paperwork, and financial records together in a safe place so you can find them easily.

If Your Direct Loan Is Not Approved

If your direct loan is not approved, FSA will notify you in writing of:

- the reason your loan cannot be approved.
- your opportunity to request:
 - reconsideration, which provides you with the opportunity to meet with the FSA loan official to present additional information and explain why you believe FSA's decision may be in error;
 - mediation, which is a process for resolution of a disagreement. A trained neutral mediator assists two or more parties who disagree by looking at the issues, considering all available options, and attempting to agree on an acceptable solution;
 - an appeal to the National Appeals Division, which is an independent organization within USDA, where you may present evidence that demonstrates why you believe that FSA's decision may be wrong.
- your rights if you believe you have been discriminated against under the Federal Equal Credit Opportunity Act or USDA regulations.

Note: If your loan is not approved, your FSA loan official may be able to advise you of potential actions or alternatives that might help resolve the issues that resulted in the denial of your loan request.

What Are Your Responsibilities as a Direct Loan Borrower?

After you receive a direct loan, it is your responsibility to:

- follow the business plan on which your loan was based; it is your blueprint for success.
- always make your loan payment on time. If you cannot make payments to suppliers, other creditors, or FSA on time, contact your FSA loan official immediately to discuss loan servicing options that may be available to assist you.
- keep good business records that include all:
 - farm operating and family living expenses.
 - income from crops, livestock, and other sources.

- maintain loan security, which includes:
 - keeping livestock safe, healthy, and well fed.
 - maintaining all real estate, buildings, and machinery.
 - paying insurance, real estate taxes, and other taxes when due.
 - not placing any additional liens or encumbrances on the property that you pledged as collateral to secure your loan without first getting FSA's permission.
 - attend any required production and/or financial management skills training.
 - talk with your FSA loan official to change your business plan:
 - if you need to make expenditures not included in the business plan or need to change it for any reason.
 - if you plan to sell any portion of your crop and/or livestock in a different way than described in your business plan.
 - when you propose to sell or trade any equipment.
 - have checks you receive from buyers made jointly payable to you and FSA. (FSA will release these proceeds to you in accordance with your business plan.)

What Credit Supervision Does FSA Provide to Direct Loan Borrowers?

FSA will provide oversight, technical assistance, and management expertise to assist in various ways in your success while also protecting the Government's interest.

Year-End Analyses

At the end of each business or production cycle (the time it takes to produce an agricultural commodity from the beginning of production until it is normally disposed of or sold), your FSA loan official will make an appointment with you to:

- review your records;
- help you plan for the following year's operation, including determining if you need additional loan assistance from FSA; and
- help you review your business plan and make any changes.

Chattel Checks

During the year, FSA officials may make periodic reviews or “chattel checks” to look at crops, equipment, and livestock that you have pledged as security or collateral for your loan. FSA will also work with you to account for your livestock, equipment, and other collateral and to make sure that the livestock are healthy and equipment is in good repair.

Normal Income Security

Normal income security is the crops and livestock, that FSA financed, that you produce on your farm or ranch. The income from the sale of this security can be released to you in accordance with your business plan.

Basic Security

Basic security refers to real estate, equipment, machinery, and foundation and breeder livestock, herds, and flocks that secure your loan. This property must be maintained and kept in good repair throughout the term of the loan. It is also very important that you do not sell or trade any of this security property without discussing it first with your local FSA office.

Graduating to Commercial Credit

FSA provides temporary credit to assist farmers or ranchers when they cannot get commercial loans. When you make sufficient financial progress to operate without FSA assistance, you will be asked to graduate by refinancing your FSA loans with a commercial lender. This can be accomplished with or without an FSA guarantee on the commercial loan.

What Loan Servicing Options Are Available to Direct Loan Borrowers?

If it appears that you will not be able to make a scheduled payment, or you become delinquent on your FSA loan, FSA offers servicing options to help you avoid or resolve the delinquency.

Disaster Set-Aside (DSA)

If your operation is in a disaster area designated by the President, Secretary of Agriculture, or FSA Administrator, FSA can move one annual payment to the end of your loan if you are not able to make the payment on schedule. This set-aside payment will include the unpaid interest and any principal due for that payment. Interest will accrue on any principal portion of the set-aside at the same rate charged on the balance of the loan. FSA will inform you of the availability of a disaster set-aside by mail and through news releases if your county is designated.

Example: Sarah Thompson believes that she will not be able to make all her scheduled payments, and she sees an announcement in the paper that her county received a disaster designation. She can go to the local FSA office and inquire about applications for both emergency loans and DSA, even if she has not yet received her DSA announcement directly from FSA. An FSA loan official can assist her in determining if she qualifies for an emergency loan and a DSA.

Primary Loan Servicing (PLS) for Financially Distressed and Delinquent Borrowers

If you are not able to make your payment or you become delinquent on your loan, you may want to be considered for PLS. Under PLS, your loan may be restructured if your inability to make your payment is due to circumstances beyond your control.

FSA will notify you of the availability of PLS when you become more than 90 days past due on your payments and will give you guidance and forms needed to apply for PLS. It is very important that you read the notice carefully and submit a complete servicing application to FSA within 60 days. Contact FSA if there is anything that you do not understand or if you need help completing your application.

Debt write-down may be considered in restructuring your loan if you are delinquent.

If you apply for PLS and cannot develop a plan that shows you can repay your existing debt, you may pay FSA the lower of the current market value of the loan collateral or the full amount you owe. If you are unable to pay the lower of these two amounts, then FSA will be required to move ahead with debt collection by declaring the entire debt due and payable (acceleration) and eventually selling the property you pledged as collateral. During this process, FSA may offset any eligible Federal payments from USDA or other Government sources, which will be credited to your account.

Example: David Jones was a little over 3 months late on his FSA loan payments due to adverse weather conditions and a crop failure last year. He received notification in the mail from his local FSA office advising him of available loan servicing options that must be requested within 60 days of his receipt of the notification. The forms he needs to apply were included with the notification. He may want to make an appointment with the FSA office or get help from a financial or legal professional. If he applies for loan servicing, FSA may be able to restructure his annual payments to better match his operation. If he does not make his payment or apply for loan servicing, he will be notified of his right to request reconsideration, mediation, and/or appeal. If these options do not result in a resolution, the Government will move to accelerate (declare his loans due and payable), and sell his loan security.

How Do You Apply for a Land Contract Guarantee?

Preparing Your Land Contract Guarantee Application

You may obtain the forms for a land contract guarantee application by visiting your local office or from the FSA website at <https://forms.sc.egov.usda.gov/eForms/welcomeAction.do?Home>.

You will need to complete most of the application forms; however, there is one form that will need to be completed by the seller. The local FSA loan official can help you complete the FSA forms or can identify other sources of assistance in your area. When you request assistance, the FSA loan official will provide you a Receipt for Service.

Submitting Your Land Contract Guarantee Application

You or the seller can submit the land contract guarantee application to FSA:

- by calling for an appointment with an FSA loan official;
- by mailing, faxing, or delivering your application to your local FSA office; or
- electronically if you have registered through the eGov system.

Note: When you submit an application for a land contract guarantee, the FSA loan official will provide you a Receipt for Service.

For more information on submitting your application electronically, visit the website: <https://forms.sc.egov.usda.gov/eForms/welcomeAction.do?Home>.

What Happens After You or the Seller Submits a Land Contract Guarantee Application?

How FSA Processes Your Land Contract Guarantee Application

After receiving the Land Contract Guarantee request, FSA will:

- review the application to determine if all required forms and documents have been submitted and notify you and the seller in writing within 10 days if any items are missing.
- notify you and the seller in writing after receiving all forms and documents that your application is complete.

If Your Application for a Land Contract Guarantee Is Approved

If the application for a land contract guarantee is approved, FSA will arrange for you, the seller, and the escrow or servicing agent to sign the guarantee.

If Your Application for a Land Contract Guarantee Is Not Approved

If the application for a land contract guarantee is not approved, FSA will notify you and the seller in writing of:

- the reason it cannot be approved.
- the opportunity to request:
 - reconsideration, which provides you with the opportunity to meet with an FSA loan official to present additional information and explain why you believe FSA's decision may be in error;
 - mediation, which is a process for resolution of a disagreement. A trained neutral mediator assists two or more parties who disagree by looking at the issues, considering all available options, and attempting to agree on an acceptable solution;
 - an appeal to the National Appeals Division, an independent organization within USDA, where you may present evidence which demonstrates why you believe that FSA's decision may be wrong.
- your rights if you believe you have been discriminated against under the Federal Equal Credit Opportunity Act or USDA regulations.

How Will Your Land Contract Guarantee Be Serviced?

Escrow or Servicing Agent Responsibilities

The escrow or servicing agent will handle transactions relating to the land contract between the buyer and the seller, including receiving payments from the buyer and sending them to the seller.

Your Responsibilities

You are responsible for complying with the terms of the land contract and guarantee agreements.

Special Considerations for American Indian/Alaskan Native Producers and/or Any Producer Using Land Held in Trust by the Bureau Of Indian Affairs

If you are considering using land held in trust by the United States Government through the U.S. Department of the Interior's Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA), this arrangement should be discussed with the appropriate BIA staff. This includes American Indian producers who wish to potentially use allotted trust land as collateral to secure their loan, any producer who would lease trust land as part of an agricultural operation, or any producer who will enter into a contract with a tribe to operate an agricultural operation. To determine whether this is applicable, you should use the contact information and website below.

This data is vital to monitoring the ever-changing agricultural sector and carrying out farm policy.

National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA)

Website: <https://nifa.usda.gov>

NIFA's unique mission is to advance knowledge for agriculture, the environment, human health and well-being, and communities by supporting research, education, and extension programs in the Land-Grant University System and other partner organizations. NIFA does not perform actual research, education, and extension, but rather helps fund it at the State and local level and provides program leadership in these areas.

Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS)

Website: <https://www.nrcs.usda.gov/wps/portal/nrcs/site/national/home/>

NRCS provides leadership in a partnership effort to help people conserve, maintain, and improve our natural resources and environment.

Risk Management Agency (RMA)

Website: <https://www.rma.usda.gov>

RMA helps to ensure that farmers have the financial tools necessary to manage their agricultural risks. RMA provides coverage through the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, which promotes national welfare by improving the economic stability of agriculture.

Rural Development (RD)

Website: <https://www.rd.usda.gov>

RD helps rural areas to develop and grow by offering Federal assistance that improves quality of life. RD targets communities in need and then empowers them with financial and technical resources.

Online Resources

New Farmers

Website: <https://newfarmers.usda.gov>

New Farmers helps you find the resources you need to start farming.

Other Organizations

Cooperative Extension System Offices

Website: <https://nifa.usda.gov>

Each U.S. State and territory has a Cooperative Extension State office at its land-grant university and a network of local or regional offices. These offices are staffed by one or more experts who provide useful, practical, and research-based information to agricultural producers, small business owners, youth, consumers, and others in rural areas and communities of all sizes.

Small Business Counselors (SCORE)

Website: <https://www.score.org>

SCORE, a nonprofit organization, is a network of volunteers who provide resources to help entrepreneurs start, grow, and succeed in their business. SCORE operates through 364 chapters located throughout the United States and provides confidential business counseling services at no charge.

Extension Risk Management Education (ERME) Centers

Website: <http://extensionrme.org/>

The four regional ERME centers provide funds on a competitive basis to extension educators and farm management consultants who have the expertise to develop and deliver risk mitigation materials to agricultural producers. The Digital Center serves as the clearinghouse for risk management material and provides risk management curricula, information, tools, and assistance through an online resource called the National Ag Risk Education Library.

Additional Resources for American Indians/Alaskan Natives

Intertribal Agriculture Council (IAC)

Website: www.Indianag.org

The Intertribal Agriculture Council pursues and promotes conservation, development, and use of agricultural resources for the betterment of American Indians/Alaskan Natives.

Intertribal Agriculture Council (IAC) Regional Technical Assistance Program Offices

Website: www.Indianag.org/technicalassistance/

Through assistance from USDA's Office of Tribal Relations, the IAC has established Regional Technical Assistance Program Offices. These regional offices provide technical assistance and outreach to American Indian/Alaskan Native producers and tribes. They provide guidance through the regulations and processes of Federal Agencies and:

- train on intensive financial, business, and marketing planning skills and understanding of basic and advanced farm and ranch business management skills to American Indian/Alaskan Native farmers and ranchers;
- train on leasing requirements for tribal trust and restricted lands to American Indian/Alaskan Native farmers and ranchers in coordination with the Bureau of Indian Affairs; and
- support the deployment of tribal agriculture advocates and technical assistance providers in key locations throughout Indian Country, who will serve alongside consolidated sub-offices at tribal headquarters, tribal agriculture USDA liaisons, third-party regional employees, and others.

Indian Land Tenure Foundation

Website: <https://iltf.org>

The Indian Land Tenure Foundation is a community-based nonprofit organization focused on the recovery, management, and control of American Indian lands by Indian people. They work with Indian people, Indian organizations, tribal communities, tribal governments, and others connected to Indian land issues.

Indian Land Working Group

Website: <http://www.indianlandworkinggroup.org/>

The Indian Land Working Group is dedicated to the restoration and recovery of the native land base and the control, use, and management of this land base by tribal communities.

Note: The information describing these organizations was obtained primarily from their websites.

Appendix B: Definition of Terms

Assets: Property owned by a person, both tangible (for example, land, buildings, vehicles) and intangible (for example, training, experience).

Default: The failure of a borrower to observe any agreement with the agency, or the lender in the case of a guaranteed loan, as contained in promissory notes, security instruments, and similar or related instruments.

Escrow Agent: A third-party agent selected by a seller who has obtained a prompt payment guarantee under the Land Contract Guarantee Program. Escrow agents must be bonded and may include title insurance companies, attorneys, financial institutions, or any fiscally responsible institution as determined and approved by FSA.

Family farm: A farm or ranch that produces agricultural commodities for sale in sufficient quantities so that it is recognized as a farm or ranch rather than a rural residence. Both physical labor and management are provided by the borrower, entity member, or family members. Hired labor may be used to supplement family labor, such as temporary labor for seasonal peak workloads.

Foreclosure: The act of selling security by a lender, either under the power of sale in the security instrument or through judicial proceedings.

Land Contract: An installment contract between a buyer and a seller for the sale of real property, in which complete ownership of the property is not transferred until all payments under the contract have been made.

Liabilities: Debts that a person or business owes.

Lien: A legally enforceable claim against real or chattel property of another obtained as security for the repayment of indebtedness, or an encumbrance on property to enforce payment of an obligation.

Promissory note: A written agreement to pay a specified sum on demand or at a specified time to the party designated.

Security instrument: Any document giving the agency a security interest on real or personal property.

Servicing Agent: A third-party agent selected by a seller who has obtained a standard guarantee under the Land Contract Guarantee Program. Servicing agents must be bonded commercial lending institutions or similar entities that are registered and authorized to provide escrow and collection services in the State in which the real estate is located.

In accordance with Federal civil rights law and U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) civil rights regulations and policies, the USDA, its Agencies, offices, and employees, and institutions participating in or administering USDA programs are prohibited from discriminating based on race, color, national origin, religion, sex, gender identity (including gender expression), sexual orientation, disability, age, marital status, family/parental status, income derived from a public assistance program, political beliefs, or reprisal or retaliation for prior civil rights activity, in any program or activity conducted or funded by USDA (not all bases apply to all programs). Remedies and complaint filing deadlines vary by program or incident.

Persons with disabilities who require alternative means of communication for program information (e.g., Braille, large print, audiotope, American Sign Language, etc.) should contact the responsible Agency or USDA's TARGET Center at (202) 720-2600 (voice and TTY) or contact USDA through the Federal Relay Service at (800) 877-8339. Additionally, program information may be made available in languages other than English.

To file a program discrimination complaint, complete the USDA Program Discrimination Complaint Form, AD-3027, found online at <https://www.ascr.usda.gov/filing-program-discrimination-complaint-usda-customer> and at any USDA office or write a letter addressed to USDA and provide in the letter all of the information requested in the form. To request a copy of the complaint form, call (866) 632-9992. Submit your completed form or letter to USDA by:
(1) mail: U.S. Department of Agriculture, Office of the Assistant Secretary for Civil Rights, 1400 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, D.C. 20250-9410;
(2) fax: (202) 690-7442; or (3) email: program.intake@usda.gov.

USDA is an equal opportunity provider, employer, and lender.
